Write your blurb here…

Illustrated by __________________________
Once upon a time there were three little pigs who lived with their mother. One day, she said it was time for them to leave home and told them to go and build their own houses. She warned them to watch out for the big, bad wolf!

But the three little pigs had a plan. They put a pot of hot water over the fire. The wolf came down the chimney and fell into the steaming pot.

The big, bad wolf never bothered the pigs again, and they lived happily ever after in the house made of bricks.
“Not by the hair on my chinny chin, chin,” said the third little pig.

“Then I’ll huff and I’ll puff and I’ll blow your house in!” the wolf replied.

So he huffed and he puffed and he puffed and he huffed. But he could not blow the house in.

The two little pigs ran as fast as they could to their brother’s house of bricks.

The wolf came to the house of bricks and said, “Little pig, little pig, let me come in.”

The pigs set off. Soon they met a man carrying some straw. The first little pig took the straw to build his house.

Then they met a man with some sticks. The second little pig took the sticks to build his house.

Then they met a man with some bricks. The third little pig took the bricks to build his house.

“The wolf won’t get us now!” said the three little pigs.
The next day, the big, bad wolf walked down the road. He came to the house of straw and knocked on the door.
“Little pig, little pig, let me come in,” he said.

“Not by the hair on my chinny chin, chin,” said the first little pig.
“Then I’ll huff and I’ll puff and I’ll blow your house in!” the wolf replied.
So he huffed and he puffed and he puffed and he huffed and he blew the house in.

The little pig ran as fast as he could to his brother’s house of sticks.
The wolf came to the house of sticks and said, “Little pig, little pig, let me come in.”

“Not by the hair on my chinny chin, chin,” said the second little pig.
“Then I’ll huff and I’ll puff and I’ll blow your house in!” the wolf replied.
So he huffed and he puffed and he puffed and he huffed and he blew the house in.